year is now second year Arts.

Registration in the Medical faculty is somewhat less than last year, due no doubt to the fact that the graduation class of '23 consisted of a large percentage of ex-service men. The total figures show 473, 75 of whom are first year men.

Unfortunately figures for the Graduate School, Conservatory of Music, School of Agriculture and Household Science, are not yet obtained, but it is to be expected they will compare favourably with last year's registration.

Law has an enrollment of 69, Dentistry 105, Pharmacy 55, Graduate Nurses 17, Commerce 171 and Applied Science, 401. So far as the above mentioned are concerned very little if any difference is shown, but of course in none of the faculties may the figures as yet be considered complete.

This year the Arts faculty has a record enrollment without taking into consideration partial students. The latest available figures give a total of 727 of which 283 are first year students. This is in part accounted for by the fact that the first pre-Medical year is now second year Arts.

S. C. A. HOLDS CONFERENCE TO-MORROW

Annual Setting Up Gathering at Pointe Claire

COMPREHENSIVE DAY

Interesting Speakers from Elgin House Conference

Filled with the enthusiasm brought home from the "Elgin House Conference," the Student Christian Association has all preparations ready for its annual "Setting-up Conference"—this year to be held at the Candover Country Club, Pointe Claire on Sunday.

Four years ago the students of Canada, feeling the need of some national wide religious movement, which would be impartial to race or tongue, freed from the bonds of creed or tradition, and united in mutual assistance and aspiration, rallied at Guelph, Ontario to form our strongest and most extensive student association: the students Christian Movement of Canada.

Each fall at Elgin House Muskoka, the Quebec division of the Movement hold a most inspiring and comprehensive conference, to hear notable speakers, to enter into group studies and discussion on many problems of student life and the Christian religion, and to give all those attending a great spirit of fellowship and service.

Of this movement the student Christian Association is our local chapter. Tomorrow at its conference which in the past has attracted upwards of eighty delegates, the Association's work for year will be set forth. In the morning four speakers who attended Elgin House will tell of the Movement's aims. Harry Avison will follow with a short history of its life, work and ideals. Discussion group of twenty or so will then be formed, dealing with varied topics.

In the afternoon at a general discussion the plans for the year will be formulated. Mrs. Gertrude L. Rutherford, assistant secretary of the S. C. M., will speak in the evening after a short service at the Pointe Claire Church.

The train leaves Windsor Station at 9.20 a. m. on Sunday and the return leaves Cedar Park at 9.05 p. m.

A special car will be reserved for the McGill Students. Tickets may be bought on the train. Each person is requested to bring a picnic lunch, supper being arranged for at Pointe Claire.

WEDDING BELLS RING FOR GRADS.

F. H. Walters, '23, Marries Miss D. McConnel, '24.

WEDDING BELLS RING FOR

Felix Harold Walter, for five years a member of the "Daily" staff, the last two as Editor of the "Dilettante," known as the member of Arts '23 whose hobby was slugging co-education and theology was yesterday in ring married to Miss Dorothea McConnel, familiar to all R. V. C. '24, of which class she was a member, as "Do Do".

Mr. and Mrs. Walter left today for France, where Mr. Walter will study for the next three years. It had been expected that he would become a member of the English Department this session, but during the summer he was awarded a Provincial Government Scholarship, which provides for lengthy work on the other side.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Walter were prominent when at McGill. Miss Walter, or Miss McConnel, as she was then was born in Quebec, not so very long ago.

After an early education in the Ursuline Convent, she attended Westmount High School, for several years, coming to college with R. V. C. '21. Her greatest activities were in connection with French plays, the society

819 STUDENTS IN "A" CLASS PHYSICALLY

Nearly 1,000 Appeared for Examination

MORE THAN LAST YEAR

Orders of Dept. Obeyed Without Question

The response made by students to the commands of the School of Physical Education, has been far better this year than last, nearly a thousand students having submitted themselves for physical examination. The percentage turned out 'perfect' by the authorities, though slightly below that of last year, is very good. This year about 83 1-3 per cent of those examined were found to be in category "A," while last year the percentage was 86 1-3. However, in 1923 the percentage was made up of some 765 students who registered, whereas this year 980 have been examined.

No 'C' classifications have been handed to students this year, so far, though 17 were placed in the 'D' group against five last year, and five in the 'E' group against four last year. 139 students were found fit for anything except rugby and water polo this year against last year's 94, and these are placed in category 'B.' Certain afflictions such as prophylaxis of the teeth and slight spinal curvature often suffice to bar a student from taking athletics, while students too light in weight are in the same position.

Students in the faculty of Medicine, Dentistry and Pharmacy are the healthiest this year and over 87 per cent of their number are 'perfect.' Arts, Commerce and Law students are next with 79 per cent of their number fit for anything.

Objectionable factors of last year's examinations were removed this year, to the great credit of the department. The complete figures in the various faculties for this year are:

HAZING DAYS ARE ENDED AT MCGILL

Fresh-Soph. Presidents Discuss Rules for Monday's Rush

PUSH-BALL CONTEST

March by Classes From Arts Building to Stadium

At a meeting of the presidents of the various Sophomore and Freshman years held last night at the Union final details of the Freshman-Sophomore rush were arranged. Particular stress was laid on the fact that this year there is to be absolutely no hazing of freshmen. In former years the freshman was liable to be dragged out of his bed at any hour of the night for the amusement of the Sophomores, but if he adheres to the rules for his behaviour set forth by the Students Council he need have no fear that his slumbers will be disturbed.

Great stress was laid upon the need for both Freshmen and Sophomores to keep faith because of the impossibility of stopping hazing without the co-operation of both years. It was also hoped that all would honourably do their part to promote a better feeling than has been common other years.

After some discussion an agreement was reached on a number of rules for the rush on Monday forenoon. It was decided that all freshmen should meet by classes in front of the Arts building at ten o'clock. All Sophomores shall meet by classes in front of the Union at the same hour. From there they will march to the stadium where the big event, an inter-year push-ball contest, is to take place. On arriving at the stadium the Sophomores will line up behind the goal line at the end nearest the field house. The Freshmen will line up behind the goal line at the other end. The push-ball, made of canvas stuffed with saw-dust shavings, will be placed in the centre of the field between the opposing forces. At a given signal from the master of ceremonies the opposing sides will rush on the ball. The object of the contest is to push the ball over the enemies goal line the side which first succeeds being declared the winner. This contest is not a free for all fight but a game like rugby or any other sport and contestants are expected to behave as they would in any other game.

For purposes of identification it was decided that all freshmen should wear a white handkerchief knotted about the arm.

To add interest to the contest it was resolved that those in charge of the Freshman-Sophomore track meet be requested to grant a certain number of points to the winner of the push-ball contest, these points to be added to the score made in the afternoon's contest.

Commencing Tuesday morning and lasting for two weeks the general rules for the Freshman's conduct on the campus and around the university buildings come into force.

All freshmen must wear a red and white skull cap which will be supplied to them by the Sophomores, for a slight consideration.

Each freshman must wear his faculty colours in the button hole of his coat.

No Freshman may walk on the sidewalk of the campus.

These regulations apply to all Freshmen, irrespective of faculty. In addition the various faculties have rules of their own, some of which have been enforced for years, which their own Freshmen must obey. These rules will be made known to them when they buy their caps.

While it will be very difficult to enforce these rules, freshmen of other years have complied willingly and it is expected that this year's freshman class will do the same.

"THE CANADIAN SINGING SOLDIER"

Edmund Burke's Fine College and War Record

The celebrated Canadian bass baritone Edmund Burke whom the McGill Music Club is bringing on in November for a large concert at the St. Denis Theatre is a man of many accomplishments.

He early showed signs of varied success. His school and college career was marked by keen participation in athletics, studies and music. His amateur musical achievements in Montreal are well remembered. In 1900 he graduated from McGill University in Law.

But he did not practise. A revelation came to him: he realized his possibilities as a singer. Confident in his powerful voice, over mindful of his great motto that hard work is the only road to success, he plunged ed into music as a profession, graduated from the Royal College in London and soon appeared on the boards of Covent Garden, the Grand Opera, Montpelier, the Royal Opera of Holland, and the Beecham Opera Company. Then, in concert he toured the Continent, Australia and America.

The Great War broke out. This immediately found him with the colours. Three years of distinguished service as a Captain and widespread popularity in concerts behind the lines won for him the name of "The Canadian Singing Soldier." He was mentioned in dispatches and twice decorated. He is now with the Metropolitan Opera Company.

This career of persistency is marked in his singing, vivid, dynamic, resonant. A delightful stage personality, subtle interpretive powers and a dramatic fervour have disclosed not only an opera singer but a distinguished concert artist. Mr. Burke sings in Italian, French and German as well as English.

TWO THOUSAND GIRLS WILL TAKE PHYSICAL TRAINING AT TEXAS

Enrollment in the department of physical training for women of the University of Texas is approximately two thousand according to Miss Anna Hiss, director of the department. Five hundred freshmen are included in this. Approximately two hundred and fifty are enrolled in special classes and sports which include swimming, tennis, archery, canoeing and advanced gym.

Intergroup basket ball will be featured in this fall. The house-boat has been renovated and will now accommodate sixteen girls. Parties began last week. Those interested in spending Saturday and Sunday on the house-boat should see Miss Kelly in room 7 of the Gym. The blanket tax receipt will admit one and others pay a fee of twenty-five cents.

Oak Lodge, which is half way between Deep Eddy and the dam, will accommodate sixteen girls who are required to furnish their own blankets and provisions. Hiawatha Crossin is the official chaperone of this cabin. The cabin and House Boat are used only in the fall and spring. The hikes to Oak Lodge will count for points toward T. O. C. Miss Hiss intends to eventually put in a camp-craft course which will count for required P. T.

USERS OF THE UNION AT MICHIGAN U TO BE NUMBERED SOON

With an enrollment of 3,500 registered members at the University of Michigan so far this year, slightly below the total at this time last year, the recording department of the Michigan Union plans to take census of Union users next week, according to Karl Robertson, recording secretary.

A man will be stationed at the front door of the Union from 9:30 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock keep a record of the number of students passing in and out of the building and to register all those who have not done so.

This plan will do away with the necessity of registering at a certain hour in the afternoon as has been the case heretofore and it is also expected to increase the total number of registered members.

Besides giving the opportunity for students to register, this census will enable officials of the Union to gain some idea of the number of people who use the Union daily, whether they are students, faculty or others, what classes make the most use of the building, and what percentage of them have already registered.

MONTREAL, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1924.

AN INTERNATIONAL GAME.

This afternoon the McGill football squad battles its way through to victory or defeat on the gridiron of a foreign university, and playing with men of a different nationality. Yet for the time being all national differences will be flung to the winds, and every man on the field will be filled with one purpose—to win the game.

For a number of years past the name of Dartmouth has been a familiar one upon the local campus, especially during the winter months. The intercollegiate ski and snowshoe meets have served to strengthen the bonds of fellowship between the two universities, and all who knew our American rivals will have warmest recollections of their cordiality and sportsmanship. The McGill-Dartmouth football game, which takes place this afternoon, is a new departure as far as these two universities are concerned. Although Dartmouth is the smaller school, a great deal of attention is paid to football, and they can be counted upon to place upon the field a well-trained and formidable squad.

Rumor has it that the average weight of their team is 170 pounds, and, playing under American rules, this will be a great advantage. In fact, many of the dopesters concede Dartmouth the better chance of winning.

But what matters it whether we win or lose? In any case every man will give all that he has to his team, and go home leaving the impression that the name McGill is synonymous with all that is clean and sportsmanlike. There is a tendency in some colleges to become self-centered and narrow in their outlook, due usually to lack of the broadening influence of contact with outside institutions. In the same way competition between colleges confined to one small section tends to have a detrimental effect upon the colleges themselves. The best remedy for this situation is the creation of a better understanding by means of the interchange of ideas, and competition in the various forms of athletics.

For a number of years past McGill basketball and hockey teams have toured the universities of the northern States. Two years ago the football team left an impression that will never be forgotten by its plucky stand against Syracuse. This year's trip to Dartmouth augurs well for the continuance of the plan in the future, and whatever the outcome of the game may be we feel that the two universities are being drawn closer together.

CONDENSED COMMENT.

While the quality of the senior rugby squad is being tested at Hanover to-day the intermediates and juniors will start the intercollegiate schedule on home ground. From all reports their opponents, Loyola College, may be expected to execute a keen struggle to carry away the honours of the day. The contests will be well worth a trip to the stadium to see. Ample opportunity will be offered supporters to cheer on the local athletes. Such support is invaluable. Begin the session right by attending the first gridiron contests at two o'clock.

A set of rules applying to freshmen has been drawn up by the sophomore years. These mandates are few in number, easily understood, and can not be considered too harsh for the first year men to follow in detail with a minimum of personal inconvenience. Those to whom the rules are applicable would do well to follow them. Resistance will entail more severe dealing, whereas co-operation will prevent unpleasant scenes and perhaps farcical results.

It is necessary each session to remind undergraduates by a multitude of means that physical examination is a prerequisite of participation in competitive athletics. Anyone competing without such examinations may be barred by the Department of Physical Education from doing so again during the year.

The fact that some who are training for the freshman-sophomore track meet may participate in the "rush" on Monday is causing coach and managers considerable worry. The "rush" is not intended to include athletes, who may easily be incapacitated by slight injuries.

THE CALL OF THE WILD.

I have an aim. Some think it queer; but many different ways I've tried to smite a wee, white whizzing sphere across the smiling countryside, although my aim when on the tee may sometimes not be up to much. In Spring I leave the fabled dubs and bound exultant out of doors, with chirps of joy and several clubs, all weather in rapture and plus fours. I wag my clubs and try their swing. My gizzard throbs with joy to wield. I wouldn't quit for anything, although the weather's wet and cold. The elements may work their will. Who gives a whoop if greens are slow? I love to swat the twinkling pill and watch the little beggar go. Folks talk in a superior way, and like to think I'm quite a fool to pot balls into holes all day, as if it were some kind of pool. Some others urge the grim delights of what they term "red-blooded sports, in which the prospects seem quite bright for sudden deaths of various sorts. Enthusiasts may talk their fill. No aerodrome or saucer track could ever give me half the thrill of that exhilarating smack. A golf ball is a nicer friend than lots of humans that I know. I smash at him for hours on end without his wanting blow for blow. But sometimes when I'm off my style and something misdirects my hand, he wears a sly, sardonic smile, still sitting on his heap of sand.

GETTING OFF TO A GOOD START

Instructors in salesmanship tell us of the value of the "first impression" on a prospective customer. It also has been frequently stated that a good beginning is half the battle.

It usually is the policy for many of the old students to loaf during the first two or three weeks of school, with the good intention of "bearing down" around mid-terms and finals. This habit is largely a result of thoughtlessness, and often proves costly and sometimes fatal. It is a matter of psychology that if we can work hard during the first few weeks in a course and make good grades, we perhaps will receive good grades in the subject throughout the year. Or the other hand, if we make poor grades in a course at first, students have to do B work to get a C and C work to receive a D later on. Some-

CAP WEARING FOR FRESHMEN POPULAR

Other Universities Like the Idea—Especially Texas

Following their recent discussion about initiation at McGill, it is interesting to look at other colleges. Some of these are preserving 'ancient' traditions with great tenacity, and enforcing proceedings that will last throughout the season, while others have decided to abolish the hazing end of it. The idea of Cap-wearing is generally followed out.

Unfortunately freshmen members of Texas University, must wear orange and green caps throughout the entire winter season, until March 2, when they (the caps) will be burned. Unfortunately for the "babes", there is no real winter in Texas. At McGill, ear-flaps and woolen caps would have to be provided. But Texas is a stickler for initiation.

Syracuse also make their new men conform to the wearing of the cap. Their method is very sensible, and contains some good ideas. Every freshman has to take off his hat and stand, when "Alma Mater" is played or sung. He has to rise his cap to a wearer of the "S". He must say "hello" to every class mate he meets.

Dartmouth is evidently going to have rushing but under specified rules, similar to this year's plan at McGill. At Baylor, Freshman must attend yell practice, and each new man has a staid "Junior" for a mentor, to which he may run for protection against inhuman torture! At New York the "send-to Coventry" rules and hazing which have previously been the rule have been done away with, giving place to athletic meets, held in a spirit of honest and open rivalry.

CARS

I weave among the cars with graceless ease,
As nonchalantly though they were my own.
I gaze upon each highly-lacquered hack,
Replendent in its clat of polish black.
I register disdain, for scorn I feel—
Contempt for every mortal at the wheel.
A ride I'd neither borrow, beg nor steal.
I'd rather walk my aimless way alone.

As motorists brush past in natty crooks,
They hail me; though I know it makes me moan.
I never yet disdained to take a life.
I watch him jab his clutch and watch him shift
I blush—I don't know why I blush so red
And wish that I were walking down instead
But after everything is done and said,
I wish I had a waggon of my own.

Anticipation

Mused the old dorky: "De chicken sho'am de noble animal. He serves man befo' he's born, after he's born and when he's daid."

Much the same with Old Chum. You enjoy it before you smoke, when you smoke and after you've smoked.

INTERCOLLEGIATE RUGBY STARTS OFF WITH THREE GAMES THIS AFTERNOON

Seniors at Dartmouth to Play American Rugby — Intermediates and Juniors Meet Loyola Teams — Chances Considered Favourable — Good Form Shown at Practices — Results of Dartmouth Game to be Given by Quarters in the Union Dining Room — Lemonade as Well.

All of McGill's three big teams will be playing in interesting fixtures during this afternoon, making a large and important start to the real rugby season. At the Stadium McGill's Junior and Intermediate team will lock horns with the corresponding Loyola College teams, while the great men of the College, who left for Dartmouth College at 8.30 yesterday morning will meet the Dartmouth College team in American rugby. The senior team departed in full strength and glory with the important exception of Robert McCombe who unfortunately received injuries to his head at practice Thursday afternoon. Glasco will probably take his place.

Little, playing as right half-back, will captain the team, while Hughes, Hanna, Mickles, Philipotts and J. McCombe are sure to have a large share in point-getting. An imposing list of substitutes, including Boucher, Almond, Bazin, Pugh, Little, and Milne also capped by playing under American travelled with the team.

The local collegians will be handicapped which are very different from Canadian in many respects, but Coach Shaughnessy has been giving the boys a great deal of practice in this work at the first few turn-outs being carried out on the American plan, as well as one or two practices held lately.

Though McGill rooters will have to confine their loud applause to the lesser games at home, those interested are invited to attend the dining room of the Union this afternoon, when the results of each quarter, as they come by wire, will be made public. The imprudent rumor that beverages licensed in Québec alone, would be served is unreservedly denied, but it is fairly certain that free lemonade will be given out.

J. McCOMBE

Back at McGill and doing good work with Senior Rugby Squad.

The chances of the McGill Intermediate team in their game against Loyola, are very favourable according to Art. Proctor, who is managing the team. The back line of the Intermediates is particularly good, containing such well-known figures as Graeme, Gorrie, Don, Smyth, and Harris. Schwarzman, another star, will play at flying wing, and Adams is sure to play a good game at outside wing. The Loyola team is a strong one however, being practically the same squad that ran away with all the fixtures in Junior rugby last season. This game will be played at the Stadium at 3.30.

The Juniors will battle before that time, starting at 2 o'clock. Just what Loyola will do in this game is not known, but the McGill squad are confident.

The two teams had about thirty-five men out at the Stadium, and these went through a stiff workout, the practice starting with signal drill, and winding up with three-quarters of an hour of honest scrimmage, in which all the men showed promising form.

Francise, and according to her biography in "Old McGill" in avoiding gym. Mr. Walters, better known as Felix was born at Plympton, Devon, England, in July, 1902. At an early age he came to Canada and spent several years, and soon became a member of the team at Lower Canada College. In Arts '23 he quickly became prominent in the "Daily" News Board, the Annual Board, the Players' Club and President of the Historical Club. In the Intercollegiate fencing, he represented McGill several years. It is reported that his favourite expressions were used in arguing against co-education, but yesterday's news seems to indicate that his views have undergone a strange transformation.

DARTMOUTH PREPARES FOR MCGILL SQUAD

(From Montreal Gazette)
Hanover, N. H., October 3.—Assistant Coach Jack Cannon showed the 'Varsity squad several McGill plays this afternoon and drilled the men in breaking up the lateral pass movements, which the Canadians use extensively. While the Hanover coaches do not know much about the McGill teams, it is generally known that the Canadians have a tricky style of play which is distinct from American methods. Coach Hawley spent an hour drilling the backs and ends in forward passing, laying emphasis on defence. Pete Soutar, for star tackle, has joined the coaching staff, besides coaching the tackles he will have charge of the scrums.

MCGILL MONTREAL RUGGER TO-DAY

Large Turn-out for First English Rugby Practice

The McGill English Rugby Squad has commenced its practices for the year, holding its initial work-out yesterday afternoon. It being the first call for the season, the turn-out was very encouraging, over twenty-five men turning out besides many more who made arrangements for equipment.

There are among those trying out several newcomers who are old hands at the game, having played rugger in the Old Country and out west, and who are making the old timers hustle for their old positions.

An exhibition game between the strong Montreal English Rugby Club Team and McGill is to be played this afternoon on the campus. At three o'clock, McGill in particular strong on the line, while holding some good new men in the backfield. Captain Benton has great hopes for McGill's chances in the Intercollegiate this year, and a crowd of supporters is asked to turn out and cheer the college team to victory for this game.

The first fixture is on October 18th against Toronto 'Varsity at the Molson Stadium. By that time the team should have undergone vigorous training and feel ripe for the strong 'Varsity team.

With the old stalwarts, Bradshaw, Wilson and Walter back again in togs and kicking the ball around the old campus there is every indication of a great year and another championship for McGill.

There will be a meeting of the English Rugby Club on Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the lounge room of the Union, and all men interested in the game are expected to be present.

ART. MANSON

Injured in practice, will not be in condition to play at Hanover.

PRACTICES FOR SOCCER STARTED

Prospects for McGill Soccer Team Bright for This Year

Taking its place alongside of rugby and English rugby, the McGill Soccer Football Team has begun practices, and got off to a good and early start. Yesterday afternoon the second practice of the season was held on the campus.

The twin-out was highly satisfactory in view of the fact that the college term has but barely commenced, and neither the old timers nor the newcomers have yet turned out in full numbers. Yesterday's work-out was chiefly spent on perfecting the low pass.

Manager Schleifer thinks very highly of the team's chances to bring home the championship. There are some new men turning out with the team who will materially strengthen several departments. Some of these have played soccer in England and in Western Canada.

There is an exhibition game being arranged with either Grenadier Guards or Beloeil some time next week, no definite date being set as yet.

ENTRIES FOR TOURNAMENT CLOSE TO-DAY

Annual Tennis Competition to Occur Next Week

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

All Players Must Undergo Physical Examination First

The annual college tennis tournament will start next Monday morning, and a large number of entries has been received so far, with more yet to come. All those intending to play should hand their names in before 6 o'clock to-day; the draw will be published in Monday's Daily and a copy will also be posted at the club-house.

The games are scheduled to start at 10 a.m. sharp, and all competitors must report to either C. W. Brown, at the courts, fifteen minutes before the scheduled time for their matches. In view of future matches, it is essential that this tournament be finished by next Saturday; accordingly, it has been ruled that those who do not report on time will default their matches.

All players should note that the college regulations require that they be physically examined before playing in any game; failure to observe this rule may result in disqualification of any games played. Those who have not yet paid their entry fee may do so at the courts on Monday.

Monday, being Founders' Day, is a holiday for everybody, and the committee in charge is desirous of running through two full rounds of the tournament—weather permitting.

Followers of the sport will be assured of seeing some stellar tennis played, as both Willard Crocker and Jack Wright have signified their intention of entering. Although the seating capacity is somewhat limited, Monday ought to be the occasion of a large turnout at the courts.

Other entrants include L. and T. Brown and C. W. Leslie—the other members of McGill's last year's team. Interest in this sport has been steadily on the increase at McGill in late years, and the next week's play will bring to the front leading players. As everybody knows, both Crocker and Wright have had the honour of representing Canada in the Davis cup matches for the last two years; however, they will encounter some pretty stiff competition in the coming tournament, as the Red and White has a high tennis standard.

In order to make the tournament an unqualified success, all players are earnestly requested to be on time for their matches; a win or a loss by default is unsatisfactory to both parties. The draw for each day will be published in the Daily.

yet. The encounter with these teams should serve to uncover the weaker spots in the team, so that by the time the Intercollegiate season starts a real strong team will be trotted out.

Regular practices are held every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday—at 5 P. M. on the campus. All men who have played soccer before or are interested in the game are expected to turn out with the team. The first game of the Intercollegiate schedule is with the L. U. C. in early November so an immediate turnout of all those intending to try out for a place is imperative.

TRACK TEAM LOOKS GOOD TO RAILBIRD

MEET ON MONDAY

Freshmen-Sophomore Runners Must Not Enter Clash Rush

On Monday afternoon the interclass track battle is to be staged. The fact that Founder's day is also on the same date adds an unusual note to the day, and also should add greatly to the attendance at the event. There is also little doubt as to the fact that the meet will be a record breaker as far as the times and distances made are concerned. The entry list, although not as yet complete, shows at least four candidates who should at least equal the records set in the interfaculty meets, and may even compare favorably with the times in the intercollegiate fixtures. Freshmen have entered the meet who will run for the first time with college colours, and who will make every effort to show that they deserve considerations for a place on the college team which is to be selected in the course of the next week. If the men are only favored with reasonably fair weather they will turn in some good cards.

The men who are to run in the meet have been requested not only by the track officials but also by the class executives of both competing organizations to abstain absolutely from entering the class rush in the morning. This applies especially to the men who have a chance for a place on the college team, as any injury to a valuable runner is more than the University can afford. It has also been recommended by men high up in the conducting of the track club that all entries make sure of having a physical examination as they will be suspended from sports for an indefinite period if they do not.

The final details for the conduction of the meet will be published on Monday. The officials for the most part will consist of the senior runners and followers of the sport at the college. The program for the meet is to be published in the daily and although all entries are expected in by that time the track club will take most entries at the track.

The regular men who are training for the meet on Friday are rapidly rounding into top form. Yesterdays practice saw a huge crowd out and many of the old timers among them. Kennedy who has been a most consistent performer for the past few

SOPHOMORES CHALLENGE FRESHMEN

Stadium to be Scene of Con-

MONDAY MORNING

Recommendation of Students'
Council Adopted by Arts '27

Yesterday, Arts '27 declared themselves behind the plans for the Freshman-Sophomore rush and for Freshmen initiations as formulated by the Sophomore presidents in conference with representatives from the Students' Council, and the call has gone through the Arts building for all second year men to turn out at the Stadium on Monday morning to uphold the name of '27 against the hosts of the first year.

The Freshmen seem to be preparing for the rush with enthusiasm and, although attendance on their part is absolutely voluntary, present indications point to very few being absent from among their ranks. This being so it looks as though the Sophomores are the men who are going to be outnumbered.

At the Stadium on Monday Freshmen will line up at one end of the field. Sophomores at the other, with a large stuffed canvas bag at centre-field which each side will attempt to carry, push, or pull through to their opponents' end. It is expected that points will be awarded to count in the score of the Freshman-Sophomore track meet in the afternoon. This puts the rush on a standing with inter-year athletic contests.

Every effort is going to be made to have the Freshmen's caps and colors supplied to them before Monday. If this cannot be done then they will be sold the morning of the rush at the stadium while Freshmen not then present will have to buy theirs at the college during the following day or so. The men in Arts responsible for the sale of caps and colors to the Freshmen are: Boos, Esterbrook, Smilovic, Swartz, Friedman Lyons.

The Arts men agreed that as long as a Freshman obeyed the few simple regulations laid down, he would not be molested, but if he broke the rules it would rest with them to see that he complied.

NEWCOMERS SHOULD JOIN ROWING CLUB

Manager Appeals for Experienced Members

PRACTICES SOON

Rowing Machines to be Installed in Near Future

At the first general meeting of the McGill Rowing Club, held last night in the music room of the Union, the Managing-President, D. R. Logan, made a strong appeal that all undergraduates interested in the club report at once. Those in the Arts faculty to himself, those in science to J. W. Murray, and those in medicine to G. Howie.

The club, although only formed last winter, had by spring an enthusiastic membership roll of over fifty, and while several oarsmen left McGill, the majority had signified their intentions of continuing the sport this season. The executive expressed disappointment at the meagre turnout, yesterday evening for only a dozen members had appeared at the appointed hour. However, many keen rowers were also football players, and consequently unable to be present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary—Treasurer, J. W. Murray, and passed with little comment.

After some discussions, it was decided that the annual fee be raised from one dollar to two dollars and a half.

It was announced that two rowing machines had been secured, and would be installed, if the Union House Committee permitted. In the attic of the Union in the immediate future. As soon as they are in position, the members will commence to practice, under the guidance of a well-known Montreal coach.

As was the case last year, men of the first two years may be credited with their physical training hours by attending the practices. This session there will be careful supervision of such attendance, as it was found in the past that men had signed for without going on hour's work near the machines. But all who are desirous of learning to row and to get into good condition are heartily invited to join the club.

The president announced that there was a slight possibility of the club obtaining boats for spring use; if this hope should fail to materialize arrangements would likely be made to borrow the shells of others clubs.

Mention was made of the new boat-house at Lakeside obtained by the club through the kindness of Colonel Bovey, Colonel G. Birks, Mr. Tennant, Mrs. Murray and Mr. Logan, who acted as trustees for payment of taxes and insurance. During the summer, about ten McGill men lived in the house, which was lent by the Valois Boat House Syndicate of Lakeside, but, owing to unforeseen circumstances, they did not have the boats originally promised.

By an unanimous vote, the club sent to the Toronto Varsity Boat Club the most hearty congratulations on their Olympic success, when the Canadian crew rowed second only to Yale.

Members of the club were disappointed to find that their expected workout in the Lachine shells had been cancelled, as the Lakeside Club had dismantled their boats at the end of the season.

years was at work again and showed that he was working at top form, and evidently had developed considerably since last year. Gahoury performed for a large group of interested spectators, and this star went over some heights that make promise of some interesting results before the year closes in the meet at Kingston. Hurd, the hope of the team in the middle distance events, clocked some fast time, and when the time trials are actually held the runner should step near the record. Elliott, a new runner appeared in good form today.

There is little reason for pessimism on the track club part if the candidates develop the fighting spirit that has been shown in the past few years. As yet the runners in all departments show reasonable form, and if they have the fighting spirit that runners such as Hamilton and Legg have shown in the past they should be able to score the seventh win. "Come seven" is the cry of the club, and the management is doing all that they can to give the men every chance to put the job across. The practice today is to be held in the morning from ten till twelve thirty. Coach Van Wagner will be at the track, and will give the Freshman-Sophomore entries a final polishing up before the big meet on Monday. He also will clock some of the other athletes over their distances, and get a first definite line on the men who are to run. On Friday the final time trials will be held and the men selected for the big match at Kingston.

RUGBY MANAGERS PLAN BIG SEASON

Physical Attendance for Inter Faculty Football

At a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Union, the managers of the Inter-faculty Rugby League drew up plans for an active season.

A. Quackenbush, the chairman, stated that MacDonald College for various reasons would not be a member this fall. Dentistry has been admitted into the League. Each faculty intends to enter a team making six in all. A schedule will soon appear, and, with practice beginning next week, some excellent games are expected.

Quackenbush stressed the fact that all those interested in the game, yet unable to spare the time for the senior squad, should turn out for their faculty. The Inter-faculty game is primarily intended to develop and reveal good material for Mr. Shaugnessy's squad. Senior players referee the games, so promising men will be noticed. He urged first and second year men to note that they get physical attendance for the first term by playing football.

All those interested should get in touch with their faculty representatives at once.

JOKES ARE RESULT OF BROKEN RHYTHM

Elsie Dufour Considers Jazz a Return to Animal
Rhythms

Rhythm is implicated in both tragedy and comedy. In the opinion of Elsie Dufour a dancer who has won fame in New York, London and Paris. "When you say rhythm, people always think of something they hear," she said, "but visual rhythm is just as important as ear rhythm."

"Broken rhythm is a joke," Miss Dufour explained, unless it is so badly broken that it can't get back again into the flow—in that case it is a tragedy for an intensified joke is always tragic. The artist who does not realize this is unconvinced in his expression. But a good comedian like Charlie Chaplin comes into his picture rhythmically, then suddenly breaks the flow of his movement. As a result, he is the funniest man in the world."

Miss Dufour considers jazz a return to animal rhythms, but does not condemn it as a form of self-expression. "It is too bad," she said, "that when jazz first came in, teachers spent so much time considering how far apart people should dance that they quite lost the point—namely, the importance of syncopation and strong rhythm in dance movement. People need faith in these new dance movements, for, even though they are beginning crudely, they have great possibilities of making the dance a vital and real expression of sociability and grace of feeling."
